Reflection

Remembrance Sunday, we remember the past, we give thanks for our freedom and for those who paid the price with their lives, or their physical or mental health. Jesus said, 'No one has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends'. Most of those who died in battle joined the armed forces because they wanted to defend their country, their families and loved ones, striving to achieve an everlasting peace. Jesus promised in the Gospel; to give us his peace, in heaven if not on earth. God promised eternity to everyone not just those who believe the same as we do, think about the parable of the sheep and goats. One very good reason for loving your enemy is that you will one day come face to face with them in eternity.

A Chinese emperor vowed to destroy all his enemies within a year. Twelve months later his advisors complained that the enemies were all still alive. "But I have no enemies left now", replied the emperor, "because I've made them all my friends".

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could all do that?
